DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 13-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ward.

Ward discloses a distance sensor comprising A disc brake actuator comprising: a pair of pistons (22), each of said pistons being driven to drive a brake pad (26) into engagement with an item to be braked, an adjustment mechanism for said pistons, said adjustment mechanism including tappet gears (24) associated with each piston and driven to drive a threaded tappet (22), said threaded tappet in turn driving said pistons, said pistons being constrained from rotation such that when said tappet gear are driven to rotate, a threaded connection between said tappet gears and said pistons causes said pistons to move linearly and compensate for wear on said brake pad; an electric motor (40) for driving said tappet gears; and a displacement sensor (52) for sensing movement of at least one of said pistons during braking operation, said displacement sensor providing feedback to a control for said motor, said control controlling said motor to drive said tappet gears and provide appropriate adjustment based upon an amount of movement sensed by said displacement sensor, said displacement sensor including a magnet (58) having at least one set of north and south poles, with an axis defined between said poles, and a sensor movable relative to said magnet, said sensor being a

Hall effect sensor, and a path of movement between said Hall effect sensor and said magnet being defined such that said path is non-parallel to said axis.

Re claim 18, Ward does not teach wherein the sensor is housed in plastic. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the housing of plastic since applicant has not stated that this material solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that the sensor would perform equally well with a variety of materials.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-12 are allowed.
4. Claim 20 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
